

The general charge that the present personnel of the administrative board, and, therefore, by inference, the two men who stood for re-election, were wanting in business ability. He made public the details surrounding the letting of several contracts, which he claimed were awarded irregularly, and in some cases at a big loss to the city.

CHARGES OF CORRUPTION HAD THEIR EFFECT

The charges were pressed at every public gathering in which Mr. Blair appeared as a speaker, and towards the end of the campaign echoed in the speeches of Mr. Hobson. The one person who never alluded to the two competing board members in a spirit of criticism was Mr. Mann.

More sensational still in its nature was the disclosure comparatively late in the campaign that officials in the employ of the Street Cleaning and Water Departments were actively engaged in pleading employees of the two departments to support the re-election. Although the pleading activities were couched in the language of Mr. Hirschberg, who issued a statement to the effect that he wanted no votes that were the product of coercion, the disclosures had a marked effect on public opinion, and it is believed played their part in cutting down Mr. Hirschberg's majority.

According to the official canvass of the City Democratic Committee, 5,641 voters participated in yesterday's election. Put on a municipal primary, with only five candidates contesting, the number is regarded as unusually large. A crowd of more than 2,000 people gathered at the City Auditorium to hear the returns.

Friends, I thank you from the bottom of my heart. As to the vile slanders that were used against me in this campaign, I want to say that I am highly pleased with the splendid majorities, but I do not want to congratulate the men who received them. When I started in this campaign, I was told that I was starting with a handicap of about 1,000 votes. I am glad to say that I found that not only was I not handicapped, but I was actually helped, for the large vote I have received, and I assure you that I will put my shoulder to the wheel behind the two men elected, and do my best to help them make a success of the administration.

The speech of the defeated candidate was applauded by hundreds of the followers of the successful candidates, as well as by his own large following in the audience, and he was congratulated by a large number of voters on the plucky fight and strong showing made by him in the campaign and at the polls.

HOBSON ISSUES A CARD OF THANKS

Later in the night Mr. Hobson dictated the following statement:

"I desire to thank the loyal friends who fought so hard for me in this election. My failure to win a place makes me appreciate all the more highly their unselfish work all over the city in behalf of my candidacy.

"For those who fought me, I have only the kindest of feelings. I am as truly their friends in my defeat as I was before I entered the race. I am particularly grateful for the support given me by those newspapers that favored my candidacy, and it will be my earnest effort always to live up to their high opinion of me.

"I hope that the selection of Richmond to-day will prove to be for the best interest of the city. My co-operation in any work for the city's good will always be ready."

Following the canvass of the returns, the members of the City Democratic Committee sat down to a luncheon, to which the candidates for the board were also invited. Invitation was by card, and the attendance at the luncheon was restricted to the actual membership of the committee, whose members had devoted the night to the work of handling the election returns. The board candidates and a representative of each of the local newspapers.

BRYAN TAKES STAND FOR WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE

family the science of government and the art of successfully administering it.

"Third, many well-meaning men and women affirm that suffrage would work a harm to woman by lessening the respect in which she is held. This argument would have more weight had it not been employed against every proposition advanced in favor of the enlargement of woman's sphere. This objection was once raised to the higher education of women, but it is no longer heard. The same objection was offered each time the door has opened and woman, instead of suffering degradation, has risen.

"These objections, however honestly advanced, have proven impotent to retard woman's progress. May not the fact, sincerely entertained by the opponents of woman's suffrage be found to be as groundless as those that once forbade the widening of Eastern India to ascend the funeral pyre or as those that now exclude Mohammedan women from the social benefits and responsibilities which the women of the Christian world share? And are not the second and third objections above stated refuted, to some extent at least, by the fact that in the States which have adopted woman's suffrage and in the States which have adopted it there is no agitation for a return to the system under which man has a monopoly of the right to vote? Is it not fair to assume that an effort would be made to correct the mistake if woman's suffrage were really failed to give satisfaction to the people where it has been tried?

THEIR ORGANIZATION PROVES EARNESTNESS

If one were in doubt as to which side of the question is to be taken, he would be justified in giving weight to the fact that organization and enthusiasm on the side of those who favor woman's suffrage. Organization is an evidence of earnestness, as well as of a comprehension of a subject. People do not associate themselves together to secure a given end until they have reached a definite conclusion in regard to it. When one considers the fact that woman's suffrage is a question of the right to a vote, it is not surprising that its accomplishment is worth the effort for which it calls. It is quite evident that those who are opposed to woman's suffrage are willing to make greater sacrifices to secure it than those who are in its favor. The men's suffrage are willing to make to prevent it.

"As for myself, I am not in doubt as to my duty. I do not propose to discuss the subject with elaboration at this time, but I desire to present the argument which I give the greatest weight. Without minimizing other arguments advanced in support of the extending of suffrage to woman, I place the emphasis upon the mother's right to a voice in molding the environment in which shall surround her children. The environment which operates powerfully in determining whether her offspring will crown her latter years with joy or bring down her gray hairs in sorrow to the grave. The Creator has placed upon the mother a burden which she could not shift if she so desired, and He has given her the disposition to bear it. Her life trembles in the balance at the child's birth; the balance of her energy, her nerve force and vital force are expended in their behalf; her exhaustless love is poured out upon them. Because the wealth of her existence is bestowed upon them, they are a part of her very being—where your treasure is, there will your heart be also. When one considers the cost to parents, especially to the mother, of raising a child, it seems impossible that any one would attempt to lead a child astray or rob its parents of the priceless regard to which they are entitled, and still there are in every generation—aye, in every community—those who are inhuman enough to deliberately lie in wait to make a wreck of the lives of young men and young women. They lay snares for them; they set traps for them; and the men who ply this ghastly trade for gain are allowed to use the ballot to advance their pecuniary interests. I am not willing to stay the mother's hand if she thinks that by the use of suffrage she can safeguard the welfare of those who are dearer to her than her own life.

BALLOT FOR MOTHERS

"The mother can justly claim the right to employ every weapon which can be made effective for the protection of the whole and the individual, and the ballot will put within her reach all the instrumentalities of government for dealing the truth power. If she is a widow, there is no one who is in a position to speak for her in this matter of supreme importance; if her husband is living, she can supplement his influence if they agree as to what is best for those under their joint care; if they do not agree, who will say that only the father should be consulted?

"For a time I was impressed by the suggestion that the question should be left to the women to decide—a majority to determine whether the franchise should be extended to woman; but I find myself less and less disposed to endorse this test. Samuel Johnson coined an epigram which is in point here, namely, that 'no man's conscience can tell him the right of another man.' Responsibility for the child's welfare rests primarily upon the parent; the parent receives in largest measure the blessings that flow from the child's life, if that life is nobly employed, and upon the parent falls the blow when the child's life is mismanaged. Why should any mother, who has grown more pure in spite of the franchise to safeguard the welfare of her child merely because another mother may not view her duty in the same light?

"Politics will not suffer by woman's entrance into it. If the political world has grown more pure in spite of the evil influences that have operated to debauch it, it will not be polluted by the presence and participation of woman. Neither should we doubt that woman can be trusted with the ballot. She has proven herself capable of every responsibility imposed upon her; she will not fail society in this emergency. Let this test stand. And may the severest force if the child's life is mismanaged. Why should any mother, who has grown more pure in spite of the franchise to safeguard the welfare of her child merely because another mother may not view her duty in the same light?

REV. B. LACY HOGE SAYS HE HAS BEEN MISQUOTED

That Is His Only Statement in Regard to Suit for Slander Filed by A. R. Williams.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Norfolk, Va., July 16.—Rev. B. Lacy Hoge, pastor of Spurgeon Memorial Baptist Church, to-night in a message from Ennore, S. C., said he has been misquoted in the report of his sermon on State-wide prohibition, the basis of a suit for slander filed against him to-day by attorneys for Colonel A. R. Williams of the Roanoke Times.

Dr. Hoge, in reply to a telegram from the Virginian-Pilot asking if he cared to make any statement with reference to the suit, wired that he had written the paper that he had been misquoted, and that he was sorry for it. "What I said is in writing," Dr. Hoge telegraphed, "and was read by me. If he (Colonel Williams) wishes to go to trial on the written statement, I will agree to trial as soon as I get home. Otherwise, I must wait to see his charges before answering."

The Virginian-Pilot has received no other communication from Dr. Hoge except the telegram quoted. The reporter who wrote the story of Dr. Hoge's sermon is positive he quoted the minister correctly.

In a letter to Dr. Hoge, Colonel Williams asked the minister to join in a request to the court for immediate trial and explained that he had not brought the suit for the purpose of recovering damages of $1,000 named in the declaration, but to get the facts before the jury.

MRS. ANGLE BREAKS DOWN

Woman Held for Murder in Charge of Trained Nurse.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Stamford, Conn., July 16.—Mrs. Helen M. Angle broke down in the city lock-up to-night, where she is held charged with the murder of Waldo R. Ballou, and her physician, Dr. J. H. Staub, was called to attend her. A trained nurse advised that she be removed at once to a sanatorium. Admittance to a local sanatorium was denied her on the ground of the notoriety that would be given the place. A trained nurse was then installed. The nurse is watching her to-night in the dormitory of the city lock-up. It is feared she may grow violent.
